ABSTRACT

Systems, methodologies and other embodiments associated with creating a limited effective transmission zone in a personal very limited area network (PVLAN) are described. One exemplary system includes a driven element for transmitting a wireless signal in a limited effective zone and a shield for molding the effective zone.